

NATIONAL DISABILITY INSURANCE SCHEME

The NDIS is a generational reform that delivers a national system of disability support focused on the individual needs, giving choice and control to people with disability.

Through the NDIS, tailored Individual Support Packages (ISP) will ensure people with disability will be able to make decisions around the type of supports they receive, how their support is designed and delivered, how their funding is managed and who provides them.

Organisations providing disability services may face increased competition, new cash flow challenges as well as new invoicing and reporting requirements.

Organisations may need to re-examine their customer service offerings, pricing of services and overall operational efficiency to ensure they remain financially sound and attractive as the NDIS is rolled out.
